Tomorrow all big league clubs must be cut down to a total of twenty-five men under contract, not counting the manager. The Washington Club has just twenty-five athletes on its rolls, not including Manager Mc-Bride, so the rules will not cause any summary decapitation.

It is posible, however, that both Torres the Cuban catcher, and Bob LaMotte, the shortstop from holding his foes and racing neck-Tampa, may be sent back to the bushes. Hank Shanks' batting streak sems to have come to an end. Unless Hank is killing the ball, he is not the best third baseman in the league. He has a habit of hitting into double plays when not slamming the ball safely and this is usualy costly to the team. For that reason Foss may find himself injected into the regular lineup soon, unless Hank begins hitting again. Zeb Milan is suffering a severe harleyhorse. By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.
DETROIT, May 14.—Today George McBride and his gang of trouble-makers open their first series of the season in the jungle, battling Ty Cobb and his band of jungle cats. Following their success in Cleveland, home of the world's champions, the Griffs are filled with the will to win. They are fighting mad to a man against all competitors, looking for nothing but gore. They want blood and raw meat. Four games are scheduled to be played here, and tomorrow Walter Johnson will be sent against the Tigers, which means that all DETROIT, May 14.—President Clark Griffith joined his ball club in Cleveland yesterday, and he will remain a spectator of their games until tomorrow night. went to the Griffs, who took the final victory yesterday, 4 to 2. The champions did their best, but could not overcome the excellent pitching of George Mogridge. Given a three-run lead in the first frame, the tall southpaw held the Indians to seven hits and two runs. He did not pitch strike-out ball, but, better than that, he pitched heady ball. He usually had the batter in the hole. He was thoroughly entitled to his victory.
